

My Favorite World #33

Amy Shumer is funny as shit. She's bawdy and profane and smart as a damned tack. And apparently, she's pissed off the Disney/Lucasfilm monolith with her parody photo shoot of Star Wars icons. That alone is enough to earn her solid hero status.

Hung like a goddam robot.

I wouldn't bother to post about her because she is literally everywhere in the media these days, but a friend the other day declared, "I literally have no idea who this person is." So on the off chance that one of my 7 readers is one of the 13 people in the world who aren't hip to Amy, here goes.

Her “project”^{As the lit/art eggheads like to say.} is primarily an exploration of what it means to be a young White woman in the media/world at large, the judgements/assessments of a Woman as an object first and foremost, and then perhaps having some sort of talent or other redeeming quality that might/might not deserve consideration based on whether she is hot/not hot. Also, too, whether a woman has a right to enjoy sex/food/drink to excess and without concern for what anyone else might have to say about it. At a recent awards ceremony, she declared herself well out of fucks to give, but happy to take them as she wishes.

“I’m probably like 160 pounds right now and I can catch a dick whenever I want, like, that’s the truth. It’s not a problem!”

She had been introduced by AbFab’s Jennifer Saunders^{Another very funny woman who also ran out of spare fucks a long time ago.}, who was a puddle of hysterics by the time it was all done. I’ve also watched Shumer reduce Ellen^{No last name necessary!} to speechlessness. She takes no prisoners.

I could recommend any number of clips as exemplars of comedy-meets-art-meets-social-commentary that deserves placement in the imaginary hall of fame occupied by Lenny, Carlin, Pryor, Rock, &c.^{And why, oh why, mister pale patriarchal penis person is there not another woman on that list? The problem runs deep, and it damn sure ain’t the fault of funny women like Silverman, Diller, Rivers, Boozler, &c. Mea culpa.} The extended piece on rape culture in a Texas high school football team is pitch perfect; jokes about rape are pretty difficult to pull off without being an asshole, and she nails it. The pastoral luncheon with Tina Fey and Patricia Arquette celebrating Julia Louis Dreyfuss’ “last fuckable day” before she is relegated to cronedom is superb. The trial of Bill Cosby is cruel and spot on. And even better, very funny.^{”I} believe it was my mentor, the great Bill Cosby, who said, 'Here, take this.'"

But for my money, the best thing yet in her work is this episode-length "remake" of 12 Angry Men. The cast alone is to marvel at; it's a sign of her clout and the respect she garners that this little show on basic cable could attract Jeff Goldblum, Dennis Quaid, Paul Giamatti, Vincent Kartheiser, Kumail Nanjiani, Chris Gethard, and John Hawkes for a single episode. But the genius is in the execution: a faux shot-by-shot remake, but instead of a murder trial, these men are to determine whether Amy is hot enough to be on television.

Well does she?

Watch it.
